

Finding that image

Contributed by James
Wednesday, 09 July 2008
Last Updated Wednesday, 09 July 2008

Having cleared most of the work I needed to get done, I finally put pencil to paper to flesh out my characters for Daaknite. I tell you it's going to take some doing, spent all of yesterday and I still am not staisfied with the characters. I wanted to get back to it today but I took some time to update my other website for a little bit. I have been hiding from my friends for a while so I plan to go take a look at Wanted this evening and get back to sketching later when I get home.

The drawing of the girl is a rejected illustration from one of the stories on shizzies.